Journal article : Food service in institutions. 1966 No.4th ed. pp.702

Abstract : In this impressive book Professor West and her co-authors have gathered a wealth of material for the dietitian concerned with all aspects of institutional food service, from the planning of meals to personnel management and the planning of kitchen rooms. Although much of the information relates specifically to American cooking habits, there is a great deal which is of general interest and a common approach which must make this a widely useful work.-D. L. Duncan.
