International Journal of Narrative Therapy & Community Work

Volume 2010 Issue 4 (2010)

Johnson, Lisa¹

Abstract: This article recounts an approach to working with a seven-year-old girl in response to a problem that had muted her voice. The narrative practices employed included absent but implicit questions, therapeutic documents, re-authoring conversations, definitional ceremony, and the use of an 'Anticipated Petitioner' to support a 'consulting your consultants' interview.
