Paediatric triage in South Africa

B Cheema, C Stephen, A Westwood

Abstract

Reducing child mortality is a high priority in sub-Saharan Africa, and swift, appropriate triage can make a significant contribution to this goal. There has been a lot of interest and work in the field of triage of sick children in South Africa over the past few years. In many parts of South Africa no formal system for triage of children in acute and emergency settings is in place. Some of the key paediatric triage tools being considered and developed in South Africa. The triage tools being considered are the World Health Organization Emergency Triage Assessment and Treatment (ETAT), the South African adaptation of the ETAT, the South African Triage Scale (SATS), and the Revised Paediatric SATS (P-SATS). The article describes how these tools are relevant to the country.
