

Session timeout

Your previous session has ended.

OK

Internet: New development.

Download Here

BROWSE

searching APAFT

CHANGE DATABASES

BACK TO TABLE OF CONTENTS

An error has occurred

Full content available

SHARE ...

The case of babe on the internet: New paradigms of curriculum development

Metro Education

Issue 9 (1996/1997)

Quin, Robyn; McMahon, Barrie

Abstract: That clunk you felt as you surfed the internet could have been your surfboard hitting a pig! Not a swimming pig but rather a talking porcine, Babe by name and cute by nature. This Babe is the star of the film that really went to market, being nominated for seven academy awards and on its way to making huge returns at the box office. As an Australian film with major international appeal, a G rating, many archetypal and literary parallels to be explored, significant evidence of quality film craftsmanship, it is a prime topic for the media classroom be it as part of English, the arts, technology or media studies.

FULL TEXT PDF (18653KB)

To cite this article: Quin, Robyn and McMahon, Barrie. The case of babe on the internet: New paradigms of curriculum development [online]. Metro Education, No. 9, 1996/1997: 9-21. Availability:
<<https://search.informit.com.au/documentSummary;dn=504248024204284;res=IELA>>
ISSN: 1323-3386. [cited 28 Jul 18].

Personal Author: Quin, Robyn; McMahon, Barrie;

Source: Metro Education, No. 9, 1996/1997: 9-21

Document Type: Journal Article

ISSN: 1323-3386

Subject: Selection of nonbook materials; Teaching--Aids and devices; Popular culture;
Learning--Methodology;

Database: APAFT

 View desktop version
Informit v4.0 Copyright © 2015