THE 1965 INDONESIAN KILLING DISCOURSE BY GENERATION

Diah Ariani Arimbi

ABSTRACT

The fall of Soeharto's authority in 1998 has indeed impacted numerous sides of Indonesian life: political, social and culture. The government to the state of "reformation" and "democratization" has forced the nation to redefine its authority to its men. These public responses which are narrated in contemporary Indonesian fiction. Although fiction may be seen as imaginative, ideologies can be examined clearly. By examining thematic significant of the narratives about G30S/PKI and the killings published in post 1998 by contemporary Indonesia writers, who are known as the Generation 2000 writers (who were mostly born 15-20 years after the 1965 incident: also known as the millennials), this paper will attempt to answer whether or not this generation has their own notions of the incident.

Abstrak:
Jatuhnya kekuasaan Soeharto pada tahun 1998 berdampak pada berbagai sisi kehidupan di Indonesia: politik, sosial, dan pemerintahan yang dulunya otoritatif menjadi pemerintahan yang sarat dengan "reformasi" dan "demokratisasi" telah mendefinisikan kembali wewenangnya kepada para anggotanya. Makalah ini bertujuan untuk melihat respons publik yang diterbitkan pasca tahun 1998 oleh penulis Indonesia kontemporer, yang dikenal sebagai penulis Generasi 2000 (penulis yang lahir 15-20 tahun setelah 1965 kejadian: juga dikenal sebagai millennials), makalah ini berusaha menjawab apakah pergeseran dalam memahami tragedi tahun 1965. Apakah mereka telah menciptakan sendiri arti peristiwa sejarah tersebut? Apakah mereka mengukuhkan makna yang sudah ada adalah pertanyaan yang berusaha dijawab dalam makalah ini.
