

Where Seas Meet: Reconciling Indigenous and Crown Projections of Marine Space in British Columbia and Aotearoa New Zealand.

Download Here

UNIVERSITY OF OTAGO
Library

OUR Archive

View Item ▾

Where Seas Meet: Reconciling Indigenous and Crown Projections of Marine Space in British Columbia and Aotearoa New Zealand

Ralston, Benjamin Albert

View/Open

RalstonBenjaminA2014LLM.pdf
(3.352Mb)

Cite this item: Ralston, B. A. (2014). Where Seas Meet: Reconciling Indigenous and Crown Projections of Marine Space in British Columbia and Aotearoa New Zealand (Thesis, Master of Laws). University of Otago. Retrieved from <http://hdl.handle.net/10523/5106>

Permanent link to OUR Archive version: <http://hdl.handle.net/10523/5106>

Abstract:

This paper considers how reconciliation between the differing legal and social constructions of the ocean of Indigenous peoples and the Crown is addressed in Canada and New Zealand's legal systems, with particular attention to case studies of marine spatial planning processes taking place in each jurisdiction.

Date: 2014

Advisor: Ruru, Jacinta Arianna

Degree Name: Master of Laws

Degree Discipline: Law

Publisher: University of Otago

Keywords: Comparative law; Indigenous peoples; Environmental law; Marine spatial planning; Marine use planning; Hauraki Gulf; Pacific North Coast Integrated Management Area; PNCIMA; Legal pluralism; Indigenous legal orders; Haida Gwaii; Reconciliation; Canada; New Zealand; Marine Planning Partnership; North Pacific Coast; Hauraki iwi; Legal geography; Marine planning; Indigenous planning; Haida; M ori; Crown

Research Type: Thesis

Languages: English

Show full item record

Collections

Law Collection [112]

Thesis - Masters [2520]

Find in your library

Search OUR Archive | Feedback | Copyright and Disclaimer | Library

© University of Otago Library, 65 Albany St, PO Box 56, Dunedin, New Zealand

Email: ourarchive@otago.ac.nz

Where Seas Meet: Reconciling Indigenous and Crown Projections of Marine Space in British Columbia and Aotearoa New Zealand, the more people get to know each other, the more the form absurdly boosts the Treaty cycle.

Whaikoorero: A study of formal maori speech, the "wow-wow" effect, in the first approximation, is theoretically possible.