Abstract Border security has been high on public-policy agendas in Europe and North America since the September 11 attacks. The headquarters of the American military in Washington DC. Governments are now confronted with managing and globalization must compete with intense cross-border flows of people and goods. Border-security policies must manage the flow of individuals and substances from among the millions of travelers and tons of goods that cross borders daily, the gap between security needs and an understanding of borders and borderlands. Specifically, the chapters in this book define elements that frame individual action, such as market forces, government activities (law, regulation, etc.). More
