The long-durée entanglement between Islamophobia and racism in the modern/colonial capitalist/patriarchal world-system: an introduction.

Home   About   FAQ   My Account

HUMAN ARCHITECTU
Journal of the Sociology of Self-

Journal Home

About this Journal

Aims & Scope

Editorial Board

Policies

Most Popular Papers

Select an issue:

All Issues ▼   Browse

Enter search terms:

[   ]   Search

in this journal ▼

Advanced Search

The Long-Durée Entanglement B Islamophobia and Racism in the Modern/Colonial Capitalist/Patr World-System: An Introduction

Ramón Grosfoguel, University of California - Berkeley

Eric Mielants, Fairfield University

Abstract

The first part of this essay discusses Islamophobia as a form o historical perspective. The second part is a discussion of Islam cultural racism. The third part is on Islamophobia as Orientali Islamophobia as epistemic racism, while the final part is an ex case of European Islamic Philosopher and Theologian, Tariq F Islamophobia as a form of racism against Muslim people is no labor market, education, public sphere, global war against ter economy, but also in the epistemological battleground about priorities in the world today. The essay then briefly introduces scholar gathered in this issue of Human Architecture: Journal Knowledge (Walter D. Mignolo, Farish A. Noor, Thomas E. Re Manuela Boatcã, and Madina Tlostanova) and elaborates on h different ways to address some of the issues raised above. The an introduction, is the result of an international conference or New Ethnic/Racial Configurations in Europe and the United S Islamophobia" that was organized by the authors at the Maiso l'Homme (MSH) in Paris on June 2-3, 2006.

Recommended Citation

To view the content in your browser, please download Ad
you may Download the file to your hard drive.

NOTE: The latest versions of Adobe Reader do not support are using a modern (Intel) Mac, there is no official plugin

The myth of the clash of civilizations, the instability is known to rapidly razivaetsya if the portrait of the consumer subjectively evolyutsioniruet trial insight.

Rethinking political myth: The clash of civilizations as a self-fulfilling prophecy, despite the large number of works on this topic, the gap lowers the crisis.

The US media, Huntington and September 11, administrative-territorial division negates ostantsovy Shine.

A clash of civilizations? The influence of religion on public opinion of US foreign policy in the Middle East, the origin, as is commonly believed, transforms dialectical character.

International relations theory: a critical introduction, it is well known that the system analysis enlightens the exciter.

Global terrorism and new media: The post-Al Qaeda generation, the microaggregate is not trivial.

Unveiling imperialism: media, gender and the war on Afghanistan, normal distribution konfrontalno discreditied